

Rate Yourself as to
Your LEADERSHIP CHARACTERISTICS

Make a dot in the appropriate space after each question. Be absolutely honest but be fair to yourself.

How Do You Think You Rate?	High	Above Average	Average	Below Average	Low
In willingness to accept responsibilities?
In ability and willingness to delegate responsibility to others?
In capability to meet problems and discouragements?
In leadership ability of enlisting and enthusing others?
In initiative?
In wise use of your time?
In ability to plan ahead and carry out your plans?
In ability to organize work for others to do—and see that they do it?
In willingness, patience, and ability to teach subordinates?
In courage to make decisions?
In a natural liking for working with people?
In making progress in spite of opposition, frustrations, and difficulties?
In ability to select and judge people?
In the ability to inspire respect and confidence?
In loyalty to the organization and its policies?
In the ability to analyze a problem or situation and reduce it to simple terms?
In setting a good example by practicing what you preach?

This will give you your executive profile. Look over each question again and be sure you have placed the dot in the proper space.